

HOUSE GROUP TO CONSIDER DEFICIT BILL

Luxury Tax Measure To Make Up $900,000 Shortage To Be Framed by Committee.

GOVERNOR'S ROAD MEASURE UP TODAY

Hardman in Second Message Urges That Reorganization Be Completed This Session.

The grim work of squeezing the turnip for more blood will begin Tuesday afternoon at the state capital when the ways and means committee, the money-raising body of the house, will get down to real work in framing this year's revenue bill which must provide as much money as heretofore, with an odd item of nearly $900,000 in addition, to cover a deficit. A sales tax, sometimes called a "luxury" tax, will be the first item considered at today's session of the committee, according to Chairman J. W. Culpepper.

Announcement of the beginning of hearings by the ways and means committee; defeat by a few votes of the proposed bill to change the law requiring notices of marriages to be posted on the door of courthouses; the delivery of Governor L. G. Hardman's second message; recommendation of the proposed house income tax bill and the introduction of a flood of new bills were outstanding features of the house session when it reconvened Monday.

Governor Hardman's highway department reorganization bill will be introduced today in the house of representatives by Representative Howard, of Chattahoochee county. Representative Howard announced Monday night. The measure, has been hanging in the air since last week when the governor announced that it would be introduced Thursday. Governor Hardman called the Chattahoochee solon into conference Monday.

The measure's sponsor in the senate was not identified, but it was reported the governor expected the measure to be introduced in both houses simultaneously.

One of the principal features of the legislative program Tuesday will be the appearance of United States Senator Walter F. George at a joint session of the two houses. Senator George was invited to deliver the address in a joint resolution passed by the two branches. He will discuss national legislative problems in his speech which will be delivered at noon.

In the senate the most interesting part of today's session will be devoted to a consideration by the judiciary committee No. 1 of the five children's bills introduced in that body. Judge John D. Humphries, dean of the Fulton superior court judges, will deliver the chief argument before the committee in behalf of the bills. Mr. Humphries has been shown by the senators and representatives.

"BOOTLEG KING" AND PAL EMBARK FOR PRISON HERE

New York, July 18.—(AP)—William V. Dwyer, so-called "bootleg king," and Edward C. Cochran, his "pal," who were sentenced to two years each in Atlanta penitentiary following conviction under an indictment charging violation of the prohibition law, left the federal building at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in custody of Acting United States Marshal Mulligan, en route for Atlanta.

Dwyer and Cochran surrendered shortly after 4 o'clock, just as Assistant United States Attorney Watts was about to move for the forfeiture of the $50,000 bail bonds under which they were released following their conviction last year.

No handcuffs were used and the acting marshal when asked what train he and his charges would take, said: "We'll drive to some consolidated ticket office and I'll see what train we can make. We will be in Atlanta on Wednesday. Can't make it before."

Dwyer was able to arrange for transportation for himself and Cochran in the custody of Mulligan because of the fact that no "prison car" is to start southward soon.

HEARING OF CAR FARE TESTIMONY WILL END TODAY

Parade of Witnesses Heard Monday Include Labor Delegates and Citizens.

Presentation of all evidence in the hearing before the Georgia public service commission of a petition by the Georgia Power company for a 10-cent car fare will be completed by noon today, with only a few witnesses yet to be heard in the case, it was predicted Monday afternoon.

A parade of witnesses which filed past the commission Monday to protest against the increase sought by the power company included a delegation from organized labor, a number of private citizens, several negro car riders.

The hearing will be resumed at 10 o'clock this morning, following adjournment at 4:30 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Paulin on Stand.

At the beginning of the afternoon session B. G. Paulin, who said he represented 6,500 people of Atlanta protesting the proposed adjustment, arose and protested the introduction of negro witnesses by John A. Manget.

"I wish to state at this time that I personally have never seen any discrimination against any passenger on the Atlanta street cars, that the service has been good and the operators polite at all times."

Mr. Arkwright told the commission that he did not intend to further protest such testimony on the ground of its irrelevancy but that there was a reason it should be stopped from another view. Mr. Arkwright pointed out that negroes have a chance on the street cars to make a display of their equal rights more so than they do elsewhere. To permit this sort of testimony, Mr. Arkwright said, is apt to cause trouble.

Protest Testimony.

Attorney Carl F. Hutcheson, representing the Brookhaven Chamber of Commerce, and opposing the proposed adjustment, also filed a protest against the testimony.

Chairman Perry stated that the commission had gone into this question exhaustively nearly a year ago and he felt that it was irrelevant in combating the case of the power company. He said, however, if there were no further protests he would allow Mr. Manget to proceed, asking him, however, that he hold down the number of his witnesses to the minimum.

Mr. Manget stated the purpose of bringing the negroes to the hearing was to show that the Georgia Power company was not giving good service to all the citizens of Atlanta.

Bachman on Stand.

Mr. Manget then introduced several negro witnesses who testified to alleged unfair treatment on street cars. At the conclusion of the negro testimony John R. Bachman, who was on the stand when the hearing adjourned Saturday afternoon, resumed his direct testimony.

Mr. Mayson questioned Mr. Bachman at length regarding the valuation fixed in the Beeler report and also by himself. Mr. Bachman testified he did not agree with the Beeler valuation of $16,514,327 but that he fixed the value himself at $14,700,000. He said he mainly desired to get Mr. Beeler over the allowance made for "going concern" value.

He said that the net income of the company for 1923 represented approximately 3 per cent on the Beeler valuation and something over 9 per cent on his valuation.

Mr. Bachman read numerous figures showing the increase in revenue, both gross and net, for the company in 1926 over 1923.

Mr. Mayson asked Mr. Bachman if he thought the value of the company's stock was $14,700,000.

CITY WAGE HIKE PLAN IS CHARGED

Charges that a combine of city employees has attempted to wreck the June finance sheet by hiking their salaries during the absence of Councilman A. J. Orme, now touring in Europe, were made Monday by Aldermen William B. Hartsfield, of the third, and J. Allen Couch, of the fifth, in a meeting of city council.

The alleged plan was charged during an effort on the part of friends of Jim Simpson, assistant chief of the sanitary department, to obtain an increase of $50 monthly for that official, and resulted in referring the resolution providing the wage raise to the finance committee for a report.

Aldermen Couch and Hartsfield told the floor and asserted they had been apprised of the intention of city employees to seek many salary increases while Mr. Orme is out of the city.

The open accusation came from Mr. Couch in a heated debate when he declared he had been told that Riley Elder, street improvement collector, had stated Mr. Orme would not know the June finance sheet when the

Danger of Disorders In Vienna Averted

Vienna, July 18.—(AP)—Danger of further disorders and bloodshed in Austria was averted tonight by the unconditional surrender of the socialist party and the labor federal council. The settlement of the three days' bitter strife, which shook Austria to its foundation, followed all-day parleys between Chancellor Seipel and the socialist burgomaster, Seitz, the socialist leader, Otto Bauer, and the labor chief, Tomschisch. The entire dispute will be submitted on Thursday to parliament, which the chancellor insisted should be the final arbiter.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Berlin, July 18.—(AP)—Germany, according to the Seipel government, order has been fully restored in Austria, her neighbors are scanning the horizon with the greatest anxiety.

That the fascists of both Italy and Hungary and dreamers of a greater Czechoslovakia and a greater Jugoslavia are ready to pounce on the hapless Austria on the pretext of quelling the communist troubles in Vienna, is Germany's firm conviction. She bases it on reports of reinforcements of the Italian troops on the Austro-Italian border as well as on definite information from Austria's foreign office, upon which the Italian minister as well as English diplomats and other former allies called this morning.

Protest Arming Guardsmen.

They solemnly protested against the arming of 2,000 republican guardsmen by Vienna's mayor as a violation of the Treaty of Trianon. It is this treaty which is branded as the fundamental cause of the uprising in Vienna by Germany, who points to the direful economic conditions resulting from the treaty as a hotbed of communism.

The republican guardsmen against whom Italy and England protested were enlisted and sworn in by Mayor Seitz to help the police in their strenuous struggle to win back power for Austria's so-called "democratic" government, threatened by the reds.

In reply to the allies, the Austrian government declared the guardsmen

NEW ORLEANS AIR ROUTE BIDS ASKED

Link Between Atlanta and Delta City Takes Step Toward Realization of Boston-Gulf Chain.

Prospects of establishing a new air mail route from Atlanta to New Orleans, by way of Birmingham and Mobile, took a distinct step forward with the announcement Monday asking for bids on the service. The route would connect with the New York-Atlanta service, which goes into operation this fall.

Bids will be opened August 18. The proposed Atlanta-New Orleans route is expected to be in operation about November 1 and will establish a continuous air line connection between Boston and New Orleans. The decision to put in operation such a service was made after a conference at Birmingham of W. Irving Glover, second assistant postmaster general, with representatives of business organizations from New Orleans, Mobile and Birmingham. Stops would be made at Birmingham and Mobile.

Four of the 12 federal reserve banks—Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Richmond—and two of the 12 federal reserve branch banks—Birmingham and New Orleans—are located on the route.

In order to hook up with the Atlanta-New Orleans flying schedule it will be necessary to light only 50 miles of the route between the Alabama state line and Atlanta for night flying during the winter days.

The schedule worked out by the air mail service provides for planes to leave New Orleans daily at 3:45

Barrow Grand Jury Fails To Indict Statham Woman Charged With Slaying Guy Thurmond.

Winder, Ga., July 18.—(Special)—The Barrow county grand jury in session here today, after investigating the slaying of Mrs. Marya Bowman at the time she shot and killed Guy Thurmond in the streets of Statham, May 12, 1925, also the charges of murder brought against her by the father of the slain man, returned a "no-bill," which automatically frees her.

B. A. Starr was foreman and J. H. Maynard clerk of the jury and practically the whole day's session was spent hearing witnesses in the Bowman case. Judge W. W. Stark is presiding and Solicitor Pemberton Cooley is representing the state.

Mrs. Bowman shot Thurmond, a prominent Barrow county citizen, five times on the main street of Statham, killing him almost instantly. It was stated at the time that she was mentally unbalanced and highly incensed against Thurmond, who had killed her husband, Dick Bowman, at Statham about a year before and was acquitted.

Taking a neighbor's pistol and going into Statham she met Thurmond near the bank and shot him five times, one of which would have been fatal, it was said.

A lunatic was taken for Mrs. Bowman by her brothers, D. T. and Frank Hammond, and at the same time J. W. Thurmond, the slain man's father, swore out a warrant charging her with the murder of his son. Mrs. Bowman was placed in the state sanitarium at Milledgeville and recently was released from the institution. The superintendent notifying Judge Stark that her physical condition was sufficiently improved to warrant her release. She was taken into custody by officers awaiting today's hearing by the jury.

Managua, Nicaragua, July 18.—(AP)—A graphic account of the engagement between the American marines and Nicaraguan constabulary and General Sandino's rebel forces at Ocotal has been sent by Arnoldo Ramirez Abaunza, jefe politico of Ocotal, to President Adolfo Diaz by airplane. He describes the battle as one of the fiercest in the history of Nicaragua.

Sandino opened fire on the city from all directions at 1 o'clock Saturday morning. There were shouts and cheers for Sandino and "death to the Americans."

The fighting became general, but it soon was evident that the stronghold of the Americans could not be taken. "The constabulary fought bravely," said Ramirez.

"My machine guns were sending forth death everywhere. A 'Brownie' on the commandancia closed the approaches. Two Lewis guns raked the constabulary from the rear. Anyone so imprudent as to cross met death."

The hosts of Sandino sweep on attempting to capture the park, but the American sharpshooters are piling up the dead.

RUSH OF WETS FAILS IN ONTARIO

Government Control Results in Issue of Only 120,000 Permits During Two Months.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Toronto, July 18.—Although government control of sale of liquor has been in force in Ontario for almost two months, only 120,000 permits have been issued, despite the fact that 680,755 wet votes were cast in the election authorizing such sale.

This is taken by authorities to indicate that four-fifths of those who voted were not prompted by an appetite for intoxicants, but by a wish to wipe out the evils that prohibition, in the form of the Ontario temperance act, had brought in its wake. These evils included poison liquor, rum-running, high-jacking, graft and corruption in enforcement circles.

Even the wet leaders predicted a temporary period of hard-drinking following the beginning of government sale as a natural recoil. Statistics show there has been no such backlash.

During May, the final month of the Ontario temperance act, there were 528 convictions, 40 less than averaged when the province was wet. Since government control there have been 508 convictions.

Of the 568 government control convictions, 525 were for drunkenness and the rest for illegally possessing intoxicants or possessing them in an illegal place. This indicates that while bootlegging has been cut down materially, it has not been eliminated entirely.

LIBEL SUIT COSTS FORD LARGE SUM

One Report Places Amount at $140,000; Sap-iro Admits Payment of His Attorneys' Fees.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Chicago, July 18.—Settlement of Aaron Sapiro's $1,000,000 suit against Henry Ford was not accomplished without payment of a substantial sum by Ford, it was admitted today.

Last Saturday the billionaire automobile manufacturer completed his series of apologies with an extra one for what he had said editorially concerning Sapiro. It was announced then that this was the final episode.

An unauthenticated report was circulated today that Ford had, in addition to the retraction, paid $140,000 to Sapiro.

"That amount is not correct," said the Chicago lawyer who became widely known for his activities in forming cooperative marketing societies among the farmers.

"I did receive an ample check from Mr. Ford to cover part of the cost and the attorneys' fees of my suit."

His satisfaction, he said, concerned the following points of the statement in Ford's publication:

That Ford had not personally sponsored the article.

That any statements that might have reflected on Mr. Sapiro's honesty or integrity were withdrawn. That the statement that a ring of Jews sought to exploit the farmers was withdrawn. That Ford now recognizes cooperative marketing as promising substantial relief to farmers and growers.

Fiery Nicaraguan Tells Labor Conferes U. S. Marines Must Get Out or Destroy All.

Washington, July 18.—(United News).—Action of the U. S. marines in the battle of Ocotal in which several hundred Nicaraguan rebels were reported killed, was defended today by Secretary of State Kellogg. One marine was killed and two others wounded in the engagement.

In a letter replying to a protest filed by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, Kellogg characterized the rebel leader, General Sandino, and his followers as "bandits" and "common outlaws, who do not have the political support and approval of any of the leaders of either of the political parties in Nicaragua."

But, in the opening session of the Pan-American labor congress, Salmon De La Selva, representative of the Nicaraguan Federation of Labor, injected the subject into the discussions in a bitter and fiery speech.

Attacks Marines.

De La Selva declared that unless the U. S. marines were withdrawn from Nicaragua within a short time they would have to destroy the entire population of the country.

Following an afternoon session marked by spirited debates, Central American delegates to the Pan-American labor conference met informally tonight to draft a resolution protesting against the latest Nicaraguan bloodshed.

Although introduction of such a resolution was blocked today because no committee on resolutions has yet been designated at the conference, it will receive preferential consideration at the Tuesday session through a motion presented by Luis Morones, Mexican secretary of commerce and labor, which was adopted by the delegates.

The first step in the battle was a delayed cable from American Minister Eberhardt, stating:

"Sandino, with far superior numbers, is reported to have attacked the 87 American marines and Nicaraguan national guard at Ocotal early yesterday morning (July 16) and to have suffered a decisive defeat after some 16 hours' fighting when our airplanes made the rout complete, marines losing one killed and two badly injured."

AMERICAN CONSUL IS SHOT IN MEXICO

Washington, July 18.—(AP)—Evidence of an attempt to assassinate William F. Chapman, American consul at Puerto Mexico, Mexico, has been transmitted to American officials after an investigation by Chapman's colleague, J. J. Sparks, the British vice consul.

Chapman was shot and seriously, though not fatally, wounded in his residence at the Mexican port yesterday and Sparks informed the American embassy in Mexico City that two men had entered the building during the night through a skylight, one armed with a pistol and the other with a knife. When Chapman arose to investigate, they made no demand upon him but followed him back to his bedroom and shot him.

The embassy made immediate representation to the Mexican foreign office asking the apprehension and punishment of Chapman's assailants.

Chapman was sent from his former post at Torreon to Puerto Mexico last fall but did not open a consular office at the latter place until March. The motive for the attack on Chapman has not been made clear in dispatches received here.

Puerto Mexico has been regarded as the source of potential trouble by prohibition authorities for many months, and has been watched for run runners.

The assignment there of Chapman conditions have improved although he was not detailed to Puerto Mexico with that object in view.

In his reply to Green, Secretary Kellogg said in part:

"I have received your letter of July 15, quoting telegram you received from delegates of Nicaraguan Federation of Labor, fifth Pan-American Labor congress, stating American marines in Nicaragua threaten to attack Nicaraguan forces. You add officers and members of the Pan-American Federation are deeply concerned because of exceedingly disturbed conditions existing in Nicaragua.

B. m., arriving in Atlanta at 8:45 p. m., making connection with north-bound planes which will put late afternoon New Orleans mail in New York early the following morning and in Boston later the same forenoon. Southbound planes will leave Atlanta with mail deposited in New York and Boston late the previous afternoon at 6:40 a. m., arriving at Birmingham at 8:10 a. m., Mobile at 10:20 a. m. and New Orleans at 11:40 a. m.

On the northbound trip departures from Mobile will be at 5:05 p. m. and Birmingham at 7:15 p. m. Assurances have been received from New Orleans clearing house of $15,000 worth of mail for the first year and a minimum of 50 pounds of mail daily has been promised by Birmingham.

When apprised of the call for bids on the new air mail service Postmaster Edward K. Large expressed doubt as to the prospects of the undertaking and pointed to the significance of the step in the development of Atlanta.

Decision of the postoffice department to consider extension of the Atlanta-New York air mail line to New Orleans Monday was credited directly to the Atlanta office of the postoffice, the third ward and chairman of the aviation committee of city council.

Mr. Hartfield has been in communication with Allison Owens, president of the New Orleans board of trade, for the past several weeks concerning the project. He furnished much valuable information to the Atlanta officials and was gratified Monday that the department has agreed to ask for bids, which he stated signify that the government is intensely interested in making Atlanta the air mail terminus and transfer point for the entire south.

"This is just one more step towards obtaining a trans-continental route to the west coast by way of Atlanta," the logical route," Mr. Hartfield declared. "It also marks the progress of Atlanta in its drive to become the center of air navigation of the entire country. Atlanta is the logical center because of its altitude, its climate and its natural geographical position."

DEMOCRATS LOSE LEADER IN EAST

Boston, July 18.—(AP)—The democratic party in Massachusetts has lost one of its most prominent figures in the death of Colonel William Alexander Gaston at his summer home in Barre yesterday. The son of a former governor of the state, he had been called many times to head his party ticket, but never achieved election.

Colonel Gaston was a leader of the democratic party in Massachusetts for many years, was on several occasions its candidate for governor, and in 1922 attracted national attention by his contest for the United States senatorship against the late Henry Cabot Lodge.

In 1902 he ran for governor against Lieutenant Governor John L. Bates and was defeated. He was again nominated and defeated in 1905 and refused to run in 1904 and 1906.

In 1907 he was called from the practice of law to the presidency of the National Shawmut bank, holding that office for many years. He resigned as director of the bank in 1925.

Although he had announced in 1906 that he was through with politics he was induced in 1922 to seek the democratic nomination for United States senator. He was successful and opposed the late Senator Lodge in the election. The vote was close and for two weeks while a recount was in progress there was doubt as to which candidate had been elected. Lodge was found to have a lead of 7,354 votes over Gaston.

He gained the title of colonel from service on the staff of Governor Russell from 1890 to 1892. His father, William Gaston, had been mayor of Boston and governor of Massachusetts.

"Pay no attention to me," the aviator said. "This is their day." She pointed Clarence Chamberlin on the back and pointed to Commander Byrd and his "shipmates" as she said this.

Asked about her plans in America she said: "I shall do some stunt flying, probably starting in a few days at Roosevelt field. It has been said that I am coming to America to fly back to Germany. That is my hope but I have no plane in which to do that. I hope to get backing for such a flight. I brought my plane with me for the stunt flying, though. It is on the ship, and so is my mechanic."

BUSINESS MEN APPROVE PARK ON SYLVAN ROAD

Unanimous approval was given the proposed new park, to be located on Sylvan road, Monday night at a meeting of the West End Business Men's club. I. L. Faulkner, president, presided.

The organization selected J. H. Merritt, prominent West End business man, to head a committee which he will select, to cooperate in any way possible in pushing the project to rapid completion.

Judge T. O. Hathcock, of the municipal court, and Alderman Charles M. Ford, of the tenth ward, were speakers who stressed the benefits of the proposal to Atlanta, and especially the area it would serve.

FLYING FRAULEIN WILL DO STUNTS IN UNITED STATES

New York, July 18.—(AP)—Then Rasch, German aviator, who arrived today on the Leviathan with America's five trans-Atlantic fliers, wants no one's place in the sun.

She said so aboard the Leviathan when reporters tried to interview her.

Washington, July 18.—(AP)—The contract for air mail service from Key West to Havana was awarded today to the Pan-American Airways, Inc., of New York city, at 40 1/2 cents a pound. The Cuban government probably will enter into a contract with the same corporation for service between Havana and Key West.

The schedules for the proposed Key West-Havana route have not been definitely determined, but it is thought probable the mail plane will leave Key West at 8 a. m. and arrive at Havana an hour later. The contract is made under the classified foreign air mail act and calls for the handling of all first-class mail. Air mail postage will not be necessary.

Bids on two new air mail services were asked today, calling for service between St. Louis and Memphis to connect with the present Chicago-St. Louis service and between Atlanta and New Orleans to connect with the New York-Atlanta service, which will go into operation this fall.

Statistics show that more people have died from the effects of overeating, it is reported in an article in this week's Liberty, than from having nothing to eat at all.

Managua, Nicaragua, July 18.—(AP)—A scant two-score of American marines, supported by a few more than that number of marine-trained and led native constabulary, hold the bloody field of Ocotal, scene of the first decisive engagement in the islands since the occupation.

One marine is dead, another seriously injured and one member of the constabulary has been treated for severe hurts. Of the attacking force of 500 under the recalcitrant liberal, General Sandino, which tried during 17 hours Sunday to enter the town of Ocotal, 300 lie dead outside the town and 100 are wounded. Hordes of vultures already sweep over the hotly contested field.

Planes Spread Death.

The battle might have terminated in a different fashion had it not been for two scouting planes from Managua. Swinging across the island on a routine "look-see," they passed over the lines after the fighting had progressed several hours and brought word here.

A squadron of five bombers were ordered out at once by Brigadier General Logan Feland. Driving full speed the 110 miles intervening, despite a tropical storm, they swung low across the attacking lines, raking riflemen and machine gunners with a point-blank fire. One bomb dropped into a group of skirmishers, killing 30. As successive charges detonated, General Sandino's followers threw away their arms and fled.

Tonight the general is believed to be fleeing to the fastnesses of the north-east with a handful of men.

Private Is Slain.

Private Michael A. Obleski, of Raullette, Pa., was killed and Private Charles Sidney Garrison, of Asheville, N. C., was seriously wounded. Garrison's chances for recovery, however, are said to be good. He was brought to Managua from Ocotal by airplane together with a wounded member of the constabulary.

Terrific Fighting.

A private report received by the president from the Jefe Politico at Ocotal describes the fighting as terrific. General Sandino's forces are believed to have outnumbered the little body of marines and constabulary 5 to 1.

Ocotal has the appearance of a big graveyard. The authorities are cleaning up the city as rapidly as possible, fearing an epidemic. Flocks of great vultures reached the bodies, which were some distance from Ocotal, before the burial parties could arrive on the scene.

All Wires Cut.

There is no news available from Ocotal except such as is brought by airplane, since all telegraph and telephone wires have been cut. Scouting and bombing planes were dispatched to Ocotal this morning and returned this afternoon.

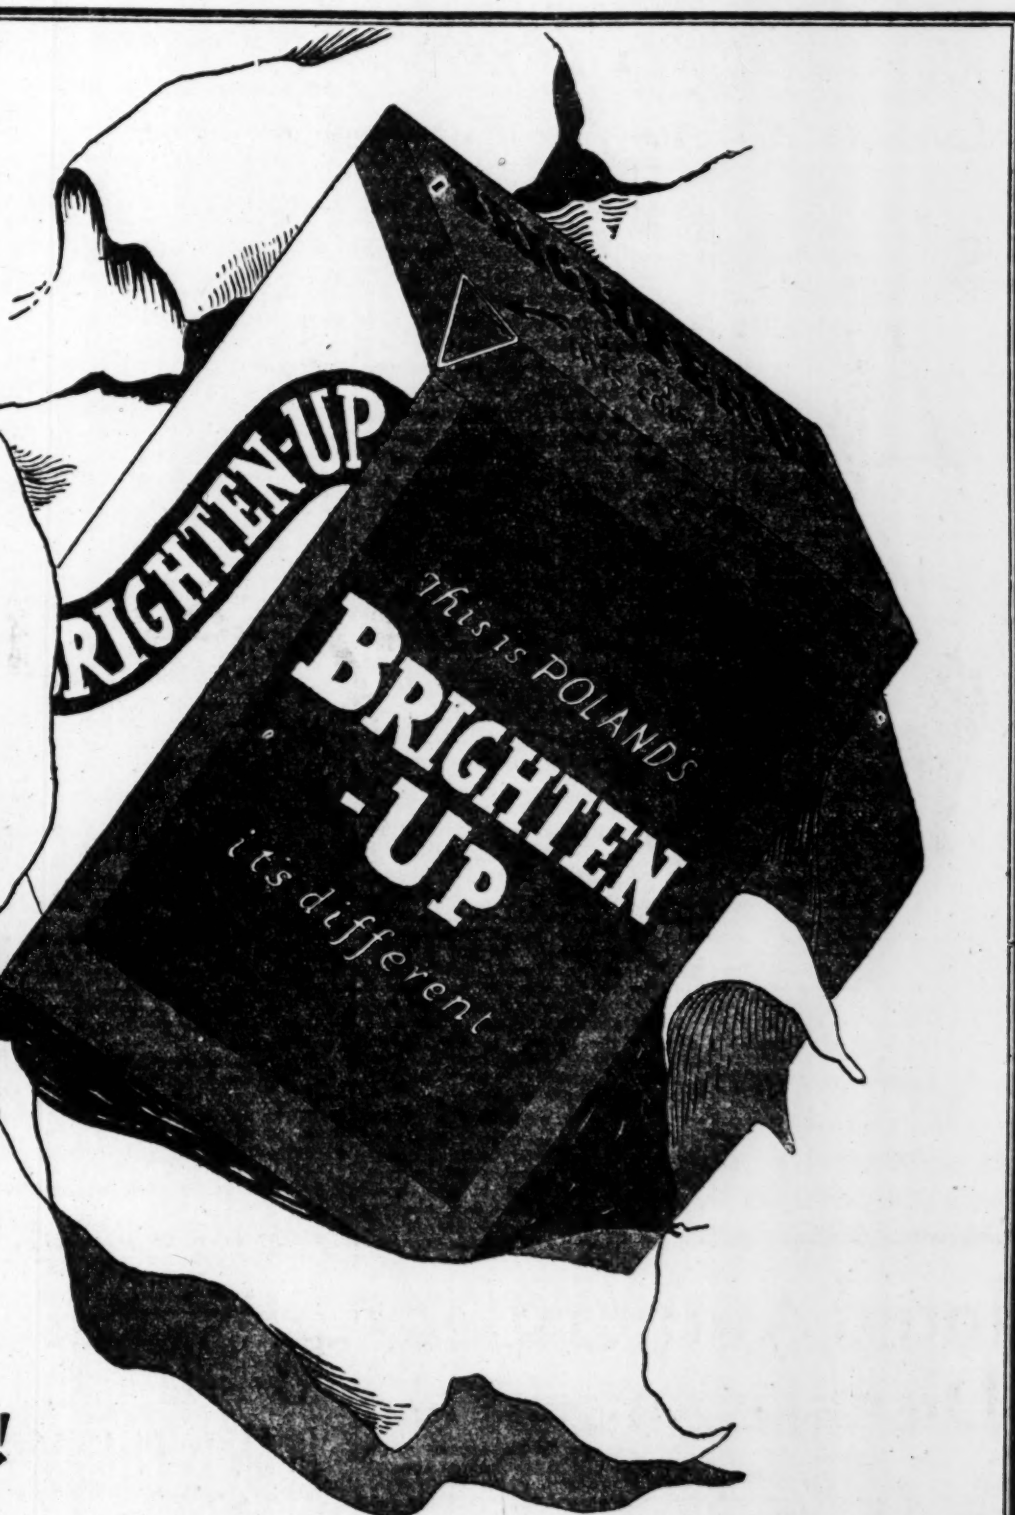

Major G. D. Hatfield, in command of the marines at Ocotal, and his fellow officers today were receiving congratulations from Nicaraguan government officials on the bravery shown by the American force in the face of such great odds.

General Sandino is said to have promised his followers that if they captured Ocotal they could loot it at will.

REPORT OF RENEWED ATTACK IS DOUBTED.

Managua, July 18.—(AP)—Gunnery Sergeant Albert S. Munsch telephoned to Managua late this afternoon that General Sandino had renewed the attack on Ocotal, but the officers of the United States marines were disinclined to believe this, stating the message evidently was garbled.

Marine Gunner Michael Wodarczyk returned from a patrol mission today, and on landing at Ocotal he reported that while looking for General Sandino he saw a group of men south-west of San Fernando, circled over

Here I Am In Atlanta

I've heard a lot about this town. I Always did want to come here and work for you. I've never been here before, but now I've come to stay.

You'll find me in every worth-while grocery store. That's because I'm good and because my boss believes in giving the grocer a square deal. So just slip around to your friend the grocer, tell him you want a package of me, take me home and turn me loose.

Then watch me work! I'll just zizz through the dishes and leave 'em so bright and gleaming you won't recognize 'em. I'll wash clothes so bright and clean you'll wonder if they're the same old garments. I'll preserve both colors and fabrics so that the clothes will last longer. I'll polish the silver. I'll brighten-up everything I touch. I'm the best friend your hands have ever known.

And get this—I'm not just a washing powder. I'm not a gritty "cleanser." I'm something betwixt and between and a polish and brightener thrown in. I'm new. I'm good. I'm different. I'm making a tremendous hit wherever I am tried. My name is

July Is Almost "All Wet"

MORE SHOWERS PREDICTED FOR TODAY

With 11 Days of Moisture

Literally speaking, July cannot be called "all wet," although it has so far proven itself considerably more than half immersed in the celestial liquid. If it rains today—and it rains today—there will have been counted a continuation of the moisture—a round dozen wet days will have been counted among the 19 associated days of a predicted month.

Monday marked the eleventh rainy day of the month and was typical of the apparent deluge, which, according to C. F. von Herrmann, government meteorologist, resulted in only a normal amount of precipitation being spread over a large portion of July with diurnal regularity. Thunderstorms are scheduled for this afternoon with no noticeable change in temperature.

No record has been broken by the number of rainy days witnessed this month, and surely none by the amount of precipitation, the weather man stated. "The past 24 hours showed only 2.20 inch rainfall, and the total for July is 2.36 inches, which is just about normal."

The percentage of rainy days witnessed this month is high but not remarkable, the records showing that during the first half of July, 1924, there were 12 rainy days, and during July, 1916, there were 28 days of heavy precipitation.

Although July is up to the normal rainfall figure, the season as a whole is still far behind in precipitation, Mr. von Herrmann said. Considerable drouth was experienced in this section earlier in the summer, but with the oncoming rains crops have been left in good condition, the meteorologist expert asserted.

Officials at the Chattahoochee station of the city waterworks reported Monday that the river was 4 feet deep, or one foot above normal, and very muddy, as a result of constant rains. They express surprise that the apparently heavy precipitation has not caused a greater rise. The one-foot rise is unusual, and far from the 1921 record, when the Chattahoochee was 33 feet above its normal height.

At the Georgia Power company, officials reported that the water levels at their power station dams in north Georgia had increased from a little below normal to a little above normal. Lake Burton, near Clayton, Ga., the head of the power company's chain of lakes, shows the greatest rise, having experienced an increase of one foot. However, its level is 15 feet from the overflow point and is not considered far from normal.

The mercury column Monday fluctuated between the extremes of 70 and 82 degrees. It was scheduled to rise about five points more, but was checked by thunderstorms in the afternoon. The probable thermometer range for today is from 72 to 85 degrees.

CITY WAGE HIKE PLOT IS CHARGED

Finance committee chief returns from Europe in about 40 days.

Mr. Elder later denied making the statement, but asserted he had heard others say it. Mr. Couch declared he was ready to prove his charges if called upon.

Opposition to the Simpson increase without a report of the finance committee was based on an ordinance passed last October by council. This measure provided that all increases first be submitted to the committee. Friends of Tom H. Williams and C. H. Hilderbrand, drivers for Chief William B. Cody, of the fire department, opposed the Simpson paper, and finally it was referred to the finance committee. Several weeks ago, the fire board recommended that salaries of Williams and Hilderbrand be increased to the pay of lieutenants. The paper was referred to the finance committee in accordance with the ordinance requiring such procedure and has never been reported out.

An attempt on the part of Alderman Robert Gann, of the sixth, to force the finance committee to report on the papers before Mr. Orme returns failed to attract sufficient support to prevent it, too, from being referred to the finance committee for a report. This, of course, means that the finance committee will not report on Mr. Orme's returns to the city.

Alderman Charles M. Ford, of the tenth, followed the Simpson salary hike paper with another aimed to increase the salaries of 12 sanitary inspectors $15 monthly. The present salary is $140 a month. This also was referred to the finance committee.

3D WARD APARTMENT OWNER MUST PAY $600

Councilman Ben Huie, of the third ward, Monday won a fight to assess H. W. Dillon, owner of a series of negro apartments constructed in the third ward, $600 for sewer connections by a vote of 15 to 11, after a heated debate.

Mr. Huie contended that Mr. Dillon insisted on locating the houses in a white district and insisted that he assessed, despite a ruling of City Attorney James L. Mayson that the assessment was illegal. Prediction-was current that a court fight to avoid payment will be made.

Alderman Robert Gann, of the sixth, held that although he looked with disfavor on erection of the houses in the section in which they were located, that the city had done all it legally could do and voted against making the assessment. The others joined him.

HARTSFIELD ATTACKS ANNEXATION PROPOSAL

Opposition to the proposed annexation of Clayton and Campbell counties to Fulton developed Monday in city council, that body giving unanimous approval to a measure asking Fulton and DeKalb county delegations in the assembly to resist the consolidation effort.

Mr. Hartsfield declared both counties have large outstanding debts which would be added to the city's debt. He also contended there is little road paving and Fulton would be forced to bear the brunt of this under annexation.

RECORDER 'SENTENCED' TO MONTH'S VACATION

Murphy M. Holloway, judge of the night division of the recorder's court and reputed to be prone to mete out stockade terms to traffic law violators especially those addicted to use of intoxicants, Monday was given a "term" of one month by council.

Judge Holloway's ruling on council, will serve a 30-day sentence on a vacation. The recommendation was brought in by the police committee of council, and was passed unanimously.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT SEEKS LONGER TERMS

Terms of service of the superintendent of parks, sanitary and garage departments would be lengthened from two to four years under a series of proposed amendments passed Monday by city council. The amendments will go to the legislature for approval following a review by Mayor I. N. Ragsdale.

ALDERMANIC BOARD APPROVES ALL PAPERS

All papers passed to it from city council were approved Monday afternoon at a meeting of the aldermanic board and will go today to Mayor I. N. Ragsdale for approval. Mayor Pro Tem W. Guy Hobbs presided.

$40,000 ARCHITECT'S FEE GETS APPROVAL

Council Monday approved a $40,000 architectural fee for school drawings on the first $1,000,000 allocation and set up a fund of $80,816 for purchase of school books for new year. Recommendations were offered by the school committee, headed by Alderman J. Allen Couch. Approval of the fee will expedite making of detailed drawings and actual construction of projects is expected to begin within 60 days, it was announced.

2 COMMISSIONERS MAY GO ON VIADUCTS BODY

Two members of Fulton county commission probably will add to the conference committees to plan construction of the Pryor street and Central avenue viaducts in accordance with a resolution offered Monday by Alderman J. Allen Couch, of the fifth ward.

The Last Word In Laxatives

This new preparation acts with time-clock precision in 60 to 90 minutes; gives one thorough elimination and no more; does not interfere with eating, drinking, or sleep; is guaranteed to remove, in one action, more poison bile from the system than any other known formula; leaves you buoyant, vigorous and alert, mentally and physically.

These are but a few of the many wonderful advantages of this latest discovery known as "Alaxo," which fuses the all-time healthy liver and bowel action, and is much quicker, more palatable and far more effective than calomel, sile or other nauseating cathartics that merely clog the liver and work you to death.

Alaxo also alkalizes the system and thoroughly cleanses it of the poisons that cause constipation. Get a bottle of your druggist, and if you are not satisfied after taking one dose, get your money back. If your druggist cannot supply Alaxo, send direct upon receipt of price, 60c. of the bridges. Alderman William B. Hartsfield, of the third ward, is chairman of the bridge committee of council, and asked that the paper be referred to that body.

FIXED WAGE SCALE SOUGHT IN COUNCIL

An attempt to evade a ruling of the Georgia supreme court, that the city cannot prescribe a fixed wage scale was made Monday by city council, when that body passed unanimously a paper of C. I. by Councilman W. E. Saunders, of the twelfth ward.

While Mr. Saunders' measure fails to set a wage scale, it is designed to force contractors to pay union wage scales by requiring contractors to submit with their bids for public improvements the scale of wages to be paid employees.

The supreme court last Saturday ruled that a previous ordinance passed by council and which set a scale of wages was unconstitutional, null and void.

Representatives of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce attacked the previous ordinance as unconstitutional and won their point. Mr. Saunders' paper was designed so that council could exercise its discretion in matters of contract award with full knowledge of the nature of the contract.

Text of Ordinance. "On account of unsatisfactory conditions of buildings recently built by the city of Atlanta, and believing that said unsatisfactory conditions are the result of inferior labor, therefore, "Be it ordained by the mayor and general council of the city of Atlanta that on and after the date of the passage of this ordinance for the construction of any buildings being constructed by the city of Atlanta shall be accepted unless said bids shall specify scale of wages to be paid labor used in the construction of said buildings.

Further, that this ordinance shall apply to buildings, bridges or any kind of construction where contracts are awarded by the city of Atlanta. That all ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict with this are hereby repealed."

JUDGE ATTACKS MASKED WHIPPERS

Ocala, Fla., July 18.—(AP)—Four persons, three men and one woman, were sent before the special Blount county grand jury today by Attorney General Charles McCall as the first step in an attempt to indict the floggers of Jeff Calloway, 19 Ocala farm youth who was beaten into unconsciousness June 26 by a band of masked men.

Those going before the inquisitorial body were Calloway himself, Mrs. Sallie McKel, John Wade, Ocala blacksmith, and Walter Greel, of Jefferson county.

Both Attorney General McCall and W. G. Rains, solicitor of the sixth judicial circuit court in charge of investigation, were highly pleased with the first day's work of the grand jury.

Evidence Ends Today.

McCall said tonight it was "highly probable" that the grand jury would receive all evidence in the case tomorrow.

How long after the grand jury received the evidence before a partial report will be made is not known, but action on the indictments is expected some time Wednesday.

In his charge to the grand jury, Judge Martin said that the whipping of Calloway constituted a felony under the laws of Alabama and urged that the guilty parties "be brought to the bar of justice."

Calloway was kidnapped by a band of masked men who lashed him into unconsciousness on charges of attending a church service while intoxicated.

In Birmingham three persons, including Warden Rainey Warren, of a Jacksonville convict camp, were arrested on charges of whipping Hugo McSweeney and Pearl Boggs several weeks ago.

DRIVER LICENSE PLAN BRINGS WARM CLASH

Sharp division of council developed Monday over a proposal of the police committee of that body to license automobile drivers in Georgia, and resulted in the measure being referred to the ordinance committee for a public hearing.

Alderman Charles Murphy, of the eleventh, and chairman of the police committee offered the paper, but Alderman William B. Hartsfield, of the third, attacked it on the grounds that Fulton and DeKalb counties would be forced to pay the license tax, which he declared "probably" will develop into a revenue raising measure.

Mr. Murphy's paper set a maximum of $1 for examination—mental and physical—on the license, and asked Fulton and DeKalb legislators to support it in the legislature. The provision would require a state-wide enactment to be effective.

STATE-AID ROADS BILL DISCUSSED

The house highways committee Monday night sent to subcommittee a bill by Representative Howard of Chattahoochee county proposing to exempt counties from assisting in the construction of state-aid roads, and turned its session into an impromptu forum on the proposal of Governor Hardman that the general assembly recess for 20 days to study what bills it has on hand before going into its passage.

Representative Wright of Floyd county precipitated the recess discussion with the statement that due to the volume of matter introduced he personally was unable to tell whether one bill overlaps another, and what were the basic merits of individual measures.

"Today as the first time I have had any sympathy for the governor's proposal," he said, "but if the matter comes on the floor of the house after what I've seen today, I'm going to vote yes."

Representative Stark of Whitfield county seconded Representative Wright's analysis of the situation regarding the encroachment of one bill on another, and said he favored a lighting bolt on the links of the Newport Country club here today. Noted Authorities Agree On Disease Source and Remedy

Blood Causes 90% Ailments; Iron Needed To Build Up Blood, Say Famous Doctors.

MINERAL-TONE IS 75% IRON

When the testimony of famous doctors and the experience of the public both tell the same story, there can be no doubt left of the power of Mineral-Tone, the amazing natural blood purifier, to relieve human suffering. Clinical tests and the statements of hundreds of grateful people both show that Mineral-Tone goes straight to the blood, building it up, driving out the poisons, and thus restoring the body to normal health, strength and vigor.

Blood, the Source of Disease.

The famous Dr. Frank McCoy, writer on health topics, and author of "The Fast Way to Health," in a remarkable article copyrighted by The Atlanta Constitution, states that "practically all disease develops from a poisoned state of the blood stream."

Mineral-Tone a Blood Tonic.

The Reverend G. L. Chastain, who was formerly a physician, has known the powers of Mineral-Tone for forty years. "This Mineral has great medicinal value as a blood tonic, and is useful for many ills," he writes in a remarkable letter. "I believe in Mineral-Tone because it is a product of Nature, its medicinal value is natural. I am glad to tell you what I know of Mineral-Tone and believe those who take it will be benefited."

Patients Gain Weight, Pep.

A prominent Southern physician, named and interested by the results testified to by hundreds who have benefited by Mineral-Tone's natural power, determined to test it on his run-down patients. The results reported by him are astounding. Patients gained from 6 to 10 pounds in one month, and showed marked benefit in stimulated appetite and increased vitality. They felt refreshed

W. N. S. Jones, of 158 Trinity avenue, Atlanta, is now well and strong after only one month of Mineral-Tone's healing power. Read his own words:

"I know from actual experience that Mineral-Tone will do more than I ever thought any medicine would do. Since 1912 my stomach has given me trouble and my liver was not right. I spent hundreds of dollars from the time they began taking Mineral-Tone, he states.

No Delays, No Alcohol.

Mineral-Tone comes to you exactly as Nature made it. No drugs, no alcohol to deceive you into thinking you are well, but real strength and health because new iron is put into your blood quickly. Mineral-Tone is 75% iron, together with other health-giving minerals in soluble form, and it quickly drives out the poisons that clog your system, bringing quick relief to those who suffer from such ailments as rheumatism, stomach trouble, boils, eczema and the like, originating from weak, run-down and impure blood.

In connection with the Mineral-Tone treatment best results will be obtained if you clear your system out thoroughly with Mineral-Tone, the laxative which works naturally and easily, causing no discomfort. For sale by all druggists.

GOD'S OPPORTUNITY.—The sacrifices of God are a broken spirit, a broken and contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not despise. Psalm 51:17.

STAMP IT OUT!

The economic losses occurring to the southeast from hooded terrorism are almost incalculable.

People from other sections of the country, however desirable and resourceful citizens they would make, do not want to settle in states and sections where masked marauders, in defiance of law, terrorize communities and even flog defenseless women and admittedly innocent children.

Richard H. Edmonds, editor of the Manufacturers' Record and perhaps the best versed industrial economist in the south, calls attention to this fact in a striking and vigorous communication to The Constitution:

Editor Constitution: The constant whippings by hooded mobs and other crimes which are disgracing the south are a serious handicap upon the future of this section, and, therefore, the time has come when the press should make the demand that every one convicted of such criminality should be made to bear the fullest punishment that can possibly be inflicted under the law. When people undertake in this way to punish those against whom they have some prejudice or who perhaps in their opinion have committed some criminality, it matters not what it may be—bootlegging or personal moral turpitude—law is set at defiance and lawlessness inevitably develops.

RICHARD H. EDMONDS,
Editor Manufacturers' Record,
Baltimore, Md., July 15, 1927.

We raise large sums of money to advertise Georgia opportunities for the land-settling homeseeker and for the attraction of more and a greater diversity of industry, and yet for every inch of advertising space that is bought and paid for on the inside pages of newspapers and magazines a column of news of outrages following in the wake of masked mobs finds its way to the front pages.

The good is offset by the bad. The outstanding advantages of a state are nullified in public opinion away from that state by the guerrilla gangs that do so-called "regulating" in defiance of law and decency in the blackness of the midnight hours and under the protecting folds of white sheets and regalia.

It must stop, if it takes the militia of every inflected and infested state to stop it.

Alabama is on trial at this hour. In several counties in that state grand jury investigations began simultaneously Monday into the recent masked floggings and thug activities that have adversely affected that state throughout the nation.

It is time for a showdown everywhere.

The Toccoa floggings created national indignation.

In the press of the east and north there was a distinctive spirit of sympathy rather than of sectional abuse.

The bond of fellowship between the sections of the nation today is so strong that there is little of the south-baiting spirit that was so noticeable in some quarters a quarter of a century ago. The assimilation of peoples in economic, industrial and social affairs has largely made all of America a compact, homogeneous country of common ideals and interests. All sections have felt keenly the shadows of the valleys that such hooded barbarism has dragged us through, and rejoice with the law-abiding people of the south at the courage of such trial judges as Sutton and Reed and Hardman and others who have had to deal with such cases. But the economic damage to the section is inescapable until the hooded mobs have been forever dispelled.

If Alabama now vindicates her good name the end of this sort of terrorism in the southeast will be well in sight.

It now remains for the legislatures of Georgia and of other southern states to legally snatch the masks from the faces of persons in public and to do so with a law so rigid and teethy that no one shall dare to violate or to defy it.

AT THE HALF-WAY POST.

With almost half of the session behind it, and with nothing of a state-wide nature having yet been accomplished, it is fitting that President Dykes and Speaker Russell should spur the general assembly to quickened activities during the remainder of the session.

It is true that good starts have been made on many important general measures, with committee hearings, and in many instances committee reports, having been concluded.

But a last-minute jam on all such measures should be avoided.

Deadlocks and jams can be prevented if partisan and factional politics give way to sound reason and judgment and to a spirit of cooperation and harmony.

It will be recalled that three years ago Governor Al Smith, of New York, faced a hostile republican legislature. He had two great issues to put through the assembly. One was the reorganization of the entire services of state government through departmental activities.

The other was the passage of a $100,000,000 bond issue for the complete elimination in cooperation with the railroads of every grade crossing in the state.

By tact and diplomacy and by arousing a state-wide public sentiment in favor of his measures, he shortly found himself and an earlier hostile assembly completely in accord, and his business program was enacted without a break.

By Governor Smith's program the activities of the state, conducted through more than 100 departments and bureaus, were reduced to less than 30 departments, and greater efficiency and enormous savings resulted.

A business program, without the semblance of politics, overwhelmingly prevailed at last.

The people of Georgia are looking to this assembly as perhaps to no other assembly in recent years to apply business to government, and to take unnecessary government out of business.

It elected the governor on that issue.

The record of this assembly must be made in the next 30 days—but that is time sufficient for a good record if all members get together for the single purpose of serving the welfare of the state.

GOOD WORK OF SALVAGING.

Until commencement exercises were held the past week at the Georgia Training School for Girls, on the school grounds on Baker's Ferry road some ten miles west of Atlanta, few Georgians—far too few—remembered that such an institution is in existence.

State and county officials who journeyed there to witness the graduation program returned to the city afterwards proclaiming in enthusiastic terms the astounding progress which they saw revealed to them in this remarkable state school—and acclaiming the common-sense administration of the board of managers, headed by George White, and Mrs. M. E. Sikes, superintendent.

The school officials, who are responsible for rehabilitating young girls between the ages of 10 and 21 who are sent to the school by juvenile courts of the state, are seeking an additional appropriation from the state legislature to provide funds for employing a parole officer. They point out that under the present appropriation no provision is made for the officer, thus making it necessary to discharge girls from the school direct into the temptations of the outside world. As may easily be seen, this deplorable condition actually invites the tearing down of all that the school builds up.

In view of the remarkable results which the school is attaining under the present administration and of the comparatively insignificant sum which the officers ask in order to correct the only glaring defect in the school's operation, it appears probable that legislators will reflect seriously before remaining inattentive to the appeal. Without the parole officer to check up and assist discharged wards, a menace threatens to shatter the long, tiring work which the school has accomplished. And such a condition defeats the purpose of the school itself.

A visit to the Georgia Training School for Girls will astonish Georgians. There's a paved highway to the gates from Atlanta.

WORLD'S WINDOW

"Our" Lindbergh.

The aviators, the mothers, the Americans of Paris, the W. C. T. U. all have in turn claimed Charles Lindbergh the aviator as their own and all have advanced documented and articulated support for their claims. The latest to claim him is Jean Longuet, grandson of Karl Marx and member of the French parliament, where he is one of the leaders of the socialist group. M. Longuet says Lindbergh belongs to the socialists of the world, because Lindbergh's father was one of the few men in the United States during the great war who dared to let his voice be heard against the orgy of hatred that swept humanity during the war years. "Lindbergh's father was wounded and persecuted," says M. Longuet. "He was accused of pro-German leanings and of treason to America. He was also called a coward." And he continues: "The son was cheered and adulated. Not for any act of heroic bloodthirstiness, but because he, following in his father's footsteps, achieved a triumph in bringing people closer together, a work of peace."

Own Flesh And Blood.

Mr. Felix Warburg, returned to New York after encircling the globe, expresses his satisfaction over the progress of Jewish colonization in soviet Russia. For there he saw 120,000 Jews working in agricultural colonies. It is a fine achievement as a measure of relief. But from a Jewish national point of view it does not have the same value as a quarter of a million Jews working the land in Palestine. In Russia it is purely philanthropy, in Palestine it means national regeneration. The achievement in the Crimea will go to the credit of the soviet government. In Palestine the permanent settlement of the land, infinitely more difficult on account of soil conditions, means the commencement of a Hebrew renaissance. To the far-off spectator the two movements may have a great similarity, but in the Jews the Palestine work evokes a passionate interest. For Palestine is his own, and the Crimea is Russian. To Russia he remains indifferent; to Palestine the Jew cannot remain indifferent, for the very hills of Judea are his own flesh and blood.

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

THE DROWNING SEASON.

This is the season of vacations and of drowning accidents. The fool who rocks the boat is now pretty well advertised and no longer tolerated. Growing this fool for preeminence is the person who, though unable to swim, ventures to go sailing, canoeing, boating or riding a raft. Third place on the foolish list goes to the parent or guardian who assumes care and responsibility for a child, and who, when the water gets in, is not prepared to resuscitate the child in case of accident.

I am no killjoy, yet I would offer this suggestion in regard to vacation plans. Do not choose a water resort, unless you can swim or receive swimming instruction there from a capable instructor. Every competent swimming instructor can teach a child to swim. Schaefer's prone pressure method, and the ability to perform this artificial respiration should be obligatory to every one using a swimming beach, pool or hole. Where it is a case of the old swimming hole, parents should see to it that every youngster in the gang shall be prepared to render this first aid in emergency.

The performance of artificial respiration by prone pressure method is being taught by several of the best swimmers in the world. It is a simple maneuver, is scarcely difficult, even though the description is given in Schaefer's own words. Schaefer is an English physiologist. He describes it as follows:

"It consists in laying the subject in the prone posture (that is, face down), preferably on the ground, with the head and arms extended, and the chest and epigastrium (epigastrium means the region of the stomach). The operator puts himself on the side of the subject, facing the head, and places his hands on each side over the lower part of the back (lowest ribs). He then slowly thrusts the weight of his body forward to beat upon his own arms, and thus presses upon the thorax of the subject and forces air out of the lungs. This being effected, he gradually releases the pressure by drawing his own body up again to a more erect position, but without removing the hands."

This brief rest the chest and lungs expands from its own elasticity and air is drawn in. This movement is repeated at the rate of 12 to 15 times, and the subject's breathing is restored or possibility of restoration is given up. Never give up until you have kept the artificial respiration going at least half an hour. Never interrupt the regular movement ever for a few seconds in order to move the body anywhere or permit other interruptions. These few cautions are almost as important as the immediate application of the method.

TWO STATES AGREE ON PAVING HIGHWAY

Nashville, Tenn., July 18.—(AP)—Because Swain county, North Carolina, failed to agree to the terms of a proposed highway agreement, the state highway department today let contract for construction of close to 14 1/2 miles of road from Gainesboro to the North Carolina line at Indian or Collins Gap in the Great Smoky mountains.

Dixie Brothers, of Waynesville, N. C., the successful bidders, were given the contract at $324,238.47.

Construction had been held up by the refusal of the North Carolina state highway commission to meet the road at the Gap, giving a new scenic route from state to state, on grounds that since the whole of the Great Smoky mountain territory at the Gap was to be turned over to the federal department of interior for creation of a national park road construction in the area should be done by the latter.

SPOTLIGHTING THE SOLONS

BY SAM W. SMALL

Valuable Suggestions Submitted by Governor Hardman for Administration Reforms.

Immediate comment in the chambers yesterday on Governor Hardman's suggestion of a 20-days recess, during which members might studiously consider pending measures for government reform, was quite favorable. Some thoughtful members stated that the proposition might be found both wise and profitable. At least it might give members a valuable opportunity to consult their constituents upon some of the big questions upon which the legislature will be called to act later.

It was suggested that there will be strong approval of the proposal to have an expert survey of the state government, in view of the correlation and reduction into a few responsible departments. That policy is being pursued in a number of states. In New York, 116 departments of the state have been reduced to 18 that began to function January 1 of this year. In Virginia 100 bureaus and commissions and special departments have been consolidated into 12 separate agencies have been combined in eight general departments.

It is believed that the legislature will take 20 days off and present this reform to their people at home they will find it almost unanimously approved.

The current rumors of a general assault upon Governor Hardman, for his negative attitude toward the bill for the reappointment of Hon. John N. Holder as chairman of the state highway board, found verification in a speech by Senator Rivers defending the governor. There was a prevalent feeling about the chambers that anything in the nature of a war between the executive and the legislature would be most unwelcome to the people at large and unfortunate to the state's immediate interests. The run of the legislature in the past few years had been to "run the show" and the pressing business of the state attended to without undue friction and personal feeling.

It is believed that the legislature will take 20 days off and present this reform to their people at home they will find it almost unanimously approved.

Minister Urges Better Pay for State Farm Employees

Editor Constitution: Having seen in the press recently some reference to an increase in salary of the employees of the state farm, I desire to say a few words in regard to some of those whose ability and work I know, first hand. I have been with them for three years in close touch with them. First, the superintendent, B. H. Dunaway, is peculiarly fitted for the place he occupies. Being a practical and successful farmer he has done wonders with the agricultural potentialities of the farm.

He now receives only one hundred and fifty dollars per month. This pitifully small amount should be doubled at once.

Then there is the chaplain, whom I personally know to be one of the most talented men in the state. I have seen much of his work. Dr. Atkins is a man of deep piety. He knows the way of life, and his personal intelligence are given unreservedly to the aid of those unfortunate sent to the farm.

The state ought to see to it that he receives at least one hundred and fifty dollars per month.

There is one other of whom I would speak a word—that is the matron at the women's camp. A woman more capable and more unselfish in her task cannot be found anywhere. Refined, cultured and thoroughly efficient, she lives among those women, and her own life is a constant example to higher ideals and better lives.

The state of Georgia should pay the expert only fifty dollars per month is a reflection on the state.

No doubt there are other worthy employees at the state farm but these three I know, I know their character and the effectiveness of their work and I sincerely hope that the legislature will consider them in increase in salary that will in some measure, at least, be commensurate with the great work they are doing.

received revolvers without the government's consent and that they enlisted only for ten days.

Berlin also is worried about the republican guardmen. She fears that in the struggle between the government and the socialists for power, the republican guardmen will really be the realists, will use the arms given them by the mayor.

VIENNA "REFRAMES TO BURY ITS DEAD."

Vienna (Via Bratislava), July 18.—(AP)—The situation in Vienna, and although conditions appear to be almost normal, the city is strongly patrolled day and night by regular volunteer police with rifles slung over their shoulders. In behalf of Chancellor Seipel, Herr Keinebeck, minister of finance, announced the termination of the strike.

amended to prevent a repetition of recent bank collapses, with their distressing privations to depositors, meets with general favor. It drew out the fact that certain legislators are carefully studying the structure, and effects of the Oklahoma bank deposit guaranty act. It has had a thorough testing and has been famous as a protection to depositors. The principle of the act is to require all the state banks to contribute to the guaranty fund in proportion to their estimated liabilities. The fund is to be maintained by the state, and the guaranty fund is to be used to pay the claims of depositors in the event of a bank "going bad" in any manner the depositors get their money paid to them promptly from the guaranty fund. The banks get the interest on their impounded guaranty funds, less only the cost of the fund's administration. The system is reputed to work with almost satisfaction to the banks and the utmost safety to depositors.

The bill by Senator Edwards to prohibit the wearing abroad of masks, hoods or other facial disguises, with certain reasonable exceptions, and the punishment of hooded and masked mob outrages, has gone up in 10 feet long. It should not meet with a single dissenting voice in the general assembly. If there is any brand of lawlessness in the state, it deserves to be treated next to bloody murder it is this going about at night by masked politicos pretending to regulate the morals and decency of the community. They are bands of cowardly lynxes and deserve no pity from honest people, and certainly none from the courts and juries. Let the bill pass!

Today at noon, by request of the two houses, the session of the Georgia legislature will be adjourned until 10 a. m. tomorrow. There is much activity to hear our junior senator of the United States, well known in the legislative circles of the nation.

Especially because Senator George is more and more being widely discussed as one distinctly eligible for the presidency, his presence in the legislature is there eagerness to learn his political judgments.

No man who has entered the national arena in the past few years so cordially a welcome as Senator George and since his advent in the body he has steadily grown in the esteem and confidence of his colleagues, as a great Georgian, a great democrat and a great senator.

NEW YORK GIVES AIRMEN WELCOME

rain gave amusement to Commander Byrd.

"Wherever I go," he told the throng at the hotel, "I seem to carry the rain and the storms with me."

At city hall the fliers were greeted by Mayor Walker and were each awarded the city's medal of valor. Then the procession continued, through streets almost deserted because of the rain, to the eternal light at Madison Square, where each aviator was honored by those who gave their lives for their country.

Men Disperse.

After that he dispersed, the "Americans" crew going to its hotels to rest until attending a theatrical performance tonight, and Chamberlin driving to Mitchell field and thence to the city hall to receive a letter of 20 inhabitants which is his home, to receive a combined welcome from the people of Teterboro and its environs.

Today was the most important in the welcome of the fliers, but dinners and entertainments of one sort and another were held during the day.

Although Colonel Lindbergh went down the bay on the Macom to welcome the aviators he came to know the city, as well as the harbor, preparing for their Atlantic flights, he did not ride in the procession. A place had been prepared for him but as the parade started toward city hall he slipped away. A police officer who recognized him asked if he was not riding in the procession. With an evasive answer he slipped away, but attracting any of the glory due the most recently returned hero to himself, "I'm not going along. I've had my day."

CLARENCE CHAMBERLIN RECEIVES OVATION.

New York, July 18.—(AP)—Clarence D. Chamberlin today returned to the state where he carried on his aeronautical experiments for many years and where he was named "the man of the year" in a proposed aviation unit of the New Jersey national guard. A crowd estimated at 12,000 persons greeted the flier.

"I'm glad to get back to my home country where I can talk to people," Chamberlin told reporters.

When Chamberlin arrived at the field in an automobile, the crowd broke down the wire barriers, and he led him in a crowd brushed away police and surged about the car. He finally reached the platform.

We are about to add an aeronautical unit to the national guard and trust what when everything is ready you will consider the acceptance of a commission in that branch," Governor A. Harry Hayes, in a letter read by Brigadier General Frederick Gillyson, his representative.

BYRD WILL ASSIST SPOKANE AIR DERBY.

New York, July 18.—(AP)—Commander Richard E. Byrd announced tonight that he will act as an official of the Spokane air derby to be held from September 19 to 21, provide his proposed expedition to the south pole does not interfere.

Byrd, who followed "short" after he was visited by Major John F. Faucher, of the air service division of the Washington national guard, was strongly urged to sponsor the air race between there and Spokane.

Governor Hardman's Second Message to General Assembly

The text of Governor Hardman's second message Monday to the Georgia general assembly, in full, follows:

"Having expressed in my first message to you my confidence in your ability and your desire of cooperation, I come now to express my appreciation and gratitude for the rapid and harmonious action that you have taken in coming together and adopting the respective officers of the two departments of legislation, viz., the house and the senate. Also for the rapidity with which you have taken such arranging and appointing the committees of the respective branches of legislation. I also commend the activity and interest in the treatment of the better legislation that will provide and encourage progress, efficiency and economy in all of the departments of government, the state and the interests that this commonwealth fosters.

"You have now consumed almost half of your session, and I wish to commend to you for your consideration in more detail some of the problems which I desire should be solved during the present session of the legislature. I recognize that a body which is composed largely of new members, and which has to solve the problems that contemplate reorganization and rearrangement of the departments of state government and the departments of the legislature, is a body which with your ability, interest and enthusiasm you will be able to solve some of the problems looking to the betterment of state government and state finance.

Recess Period. I suggest for your consideration the advisability of recessing in order that you might have more time and opportunity for the consideration of some of the problems that look to the correlation and coordination of the various departments of the state. The purpose of the recess would be to reorganize, correlate and provide coordination of the various departments of the state, so as to provide greater efficiency, economy and cooperation.

I recommend that the legislature take three days, either one of which might accomplish, or aid in accomplishing, the purpose above indicated:

"1. Filing of Records.

"RECORDS. I suggest that we should have a department of location in the present capitol for filing permanent records of all the departments of the state government, as well as of other institutions not otherwise provided for. I suggest that such a location could be economically and permanently provided in the first floor of the present capitol building. The state is a permanent organization and should have permanent, substantial and sufficient room to transact her business and provide for permanent records.

State Farm Needs. "STATE FARM. The records should be placed in a vault for permanent protection.

"1. There should be forms provided and records made of criminal cases. It should be made a careful physical examination of the individual in detail, giving the distinctive marks of identification as well as physiognomy and features, also to be filed away.

"2. There should be a medical examination which should be thorough and complete, on proper forms, and it should be made a part of the records. When the criminal, if not infected with some communicable disease such as tuberculosis when entering the institution, later transferred to the tuberculosis hospital, another examination should be made and filed on entering this department at the state farm.

"3. That a medical examination should be made of those leaving this institution after serving their sentence or being paroled or pardoned.

RAGSDALE TO HEAD STATE DRIVE HERE

Declaring that Georgia farmers today are more united than ever before, Mayor I. N. Ragsdale Monday formally accepted the Atlanta chairmanship of the state-wide campaign of the Georgia association to raise $100,000 for advertising, land settlement and general improvement of agricultural conditions.

"It has been many years since Georgia has been so unified as now," Mayor Ragsdale said. The Georgia association's campaigns of education have reached every section.

Coinciding with the mayor's acceptance, it was announced that a meeting of the listing committee headed by Taylor C. Woolford, chairman, will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon in the office of the association.

Monday, it was forecast by association officials that the proposed campaign of education as to the need of such work had achieved its purpose and that when the business men of Atlanta were approached for direct contribution to the fund, they would respond liberally.

Familiar With Conditions.
"I believe I am safe in saying that I am familiar with conditions on the farms of Georgia," Mayor I. N. Ragsdale, honorary chairman, said Tuesday in a statement to the business men of Atlanta. My business man and banker to improve conditions, I am willing to declare that strong, well-planned and sustained action must be taken to improve the situation of our farmers of Georgia—a whole—and that there is no time to lose.

Skinny, "Lifeless" Women Gain Weight
Gain Pounds of Weight with New YEAST and IRON in 3 Weeks—or Pay Nothing
If we could only show you the wonders that Ironized Yeast has done for thousands of men and women. The body has been filled up with firm flesh and strong, straining necks and bony limbs given rounded beauty and health. The yeast is the same used in making malt, and which makes malt so beneficial. It is specially cultured yeast, concentrated, to give the utmost in flesh-producing value.

This Yeast is treated with pure, vegetable iron, the same as spinach, lettuce and celery. In this form iron is easily assimilated by the body, making rich, red blood, toning up nerves and muscles.

Only when Yeast is Ironized in this way is it more effective—for iron is needed to bring out the weight-building, strengthening value of Yeast. By this special formula Ironized Yeast gives you results in half the time required by yeast or iron taken separately.

MAIER & BERKELE, Inc.

65 Whitehall St., S. W. Established 40 Years

In addition to Mr. Woolford, are J. P. Allen, Robert E. Harvey, R. V. Bergen, J. F. McGrath, Leopold J. Haas and J. T. Holleman.

"It is this knowledge which has impelled me to accept the honorary chairmanship of the Atlanta phase of the Georgia association's state-wide movement for national advertising, land settlement and farm reorganization," the mayor's statement continued. "There is an almost incomprehensible sum of detailed planning, organizing and acting to be done. The task has been undertaken by the Georgia association, whose past experience bespeaks its ability to grapple with the problem, and I am hopeful that the people of Atlanta will realize the necessity for this work and will support not only with a monetary subscription but with personal backing in all respects."

"It has been many years since Georgia has been so unified as now. The Georgia association's campaigns of education in behalf of improved farm conditions have touched every section and aroused the strongest men of the state. A large, particularly striking demonstration of this fact at the state-wide dinner of the association last week when A. F. Lever presided, has shown that the Georgia association is ready to meet the needs of this hour in agriculture."

Business Center.
"Atlanta is the business and financial center of the state; Atlanta will be affected by the conditions confronting Georgia agriculture, since three-fourths of the state's population is engaged in agriculture. It is the business task of the Atlanta business man and banker to improve conditions in the state of Georgia. I conceive it to be merely a part of the ordinary business operation of every industrial and commercial enterprise in Atlanta to make a strong effort to improve the condition and buying power of its customers throughout the state. It is a recognized principle in modern business."

"More than $10,000 of the $100,000 fund desired for the association's movement already has been raised by the smaller places—largely in the very districts where the work planned is most needed. In such circumstances, I am convinced that Atlanta, which has shared more fully in the general prosperity of the nation in recent years, will do its full share now, as it has done always in the past."

"I am not sure that the numerous calls which have been, and are being made upon our people to give money. My office usually has first call on many. But in this instance I do regard the request more as one for investment in the future good business of the state and city, as a request based upon sound business considerations. I feel that we must, and will, respond."

HEARING ON NEW HAMMOND TRIAL SET FOR SEPT. 3

Hearing on a motion for a new trial for Harold Hammond, sentenced to die in the electric chair on August 10; the murder of Mrs. Lottie Bell Ingram, was set by Judge Virlyn B. Moore, Monday for September 3.

The execution of Hammond has been automatically stayed pending hearing on the motion and additional time was given court stenographers to conclude the brief of evidence. The hearing will be held in Marietta before Judge John S. Wood, of the Blue Ridge circuit, who presided at the trial.

The bodies of Mrs. Ingram and her 4-month-old son, Floyd, were found in the bed in the Ingram home where the husband and father when he returned home from his work early one morning. Mrs. Ingram had been beaten to death with a flatiron and the infant had been strangled to death.

HOUSE TO CONSIDER NEW LUXURY TAXES

in the appearance of Judge Humphries before the committee. At the request of his fellow judges, he made a two weeks' sympathetic study of the children's bills now pending and in his address he will outline the reasons why, in his opinion, these measures should be adopted.

"Anti-Flogging" Measures

Monday's session of the senate brought the introduction of "anti-flogging" measures, barring the use of manacles under certain conditions, presented by Senator Edwards of Habersham. Another feature of the senate session was a speech delivered by Senator Rivers, of Lowndes, in which the senator replied to a recent statement of the governor in reference to the state highway board.

Governor Hardman, in his message, urged the legislature to carry out his proposed plan for a study of reorganization programs during recesses of sessions by boards of experts. He urged that reorganization of the state governmental system, cutting down boards and simplifying methods, be done at this session if possible. If not possible at this session, the governor urged that a recess be taken and that the study be made in the interim. In the event this plan is not approved the governor urged that the special studies be made and that reports be prepared for submission to the legislature when it meets again in regular session.

Governor Hardman had no comment to make, one way or other, concerning the statement made in the senate by Senator Rivers that the governor had used "tyrannical" methods in his letter to the senators in which he declined to reappoint John N. Holder chairman of the highway board. The governor said he would have no statement to make of any kind in reference to the Rivers speech.

Highway Bills.
Reorganization bills covering the personnel of the administrative offices of the state highway department sponsored by the governor were introduced at the Tuesday session, the governor declared.

The bill was ready Monday but the house was not in session. The bill is the measure supported by the governor, which changes the administrative forces of the highway department. It provides for the abolition of the state highway board, the creation of a state highway commission composed of a commissioner, an assistant commissioner and a chief engineer; provides for the establishment of state traffic laws and provides for different methods of disbursing highway department funds. It is a companion bill to the Thompson senate bill which covers the proposed mileage and routing of state-aid roads.

The marriage license bill defeated in the house Monday changes the present law on this subject. It provided that persons over 21 years old be exempted from the provisions of the present law, which requires that five-day notice be posted on courthouse doors before a marriage license can be granted. The bill was killed by a vote of 95 yeas to 74 nays on a roll call vote. To pass the bill that persons over 21 years old be exempted from the provisions of the present law, which requires that five-day notice be posted on courthouse doors before a marriage license can be granted. The bill was killed by a vote of 95 yeas to 74 nays on a roll call vote. To pass the bill that persons over 21 years old be exempted from the provisions of the present law, which requires that five-day notice be posted on courthouse doors before a marriage license can be granted. The bill was killed by a vote of 95 yeas to 74 nays on a roll call vote.

Sales Tax Measure.
The sales tax measure to be considered at the sessions of the ways and means committee Tuesday afternoon would levy a tax of one percent on the sale of soft drinks, soft drink accessories and on admissions to theaters of amusement, candies, perfumes, automobiles, electric refrigerators, machines and other items. The bill is a tentative one, proposed by some members of the ways and means committee and is not sponsored by any one body as a whole.

By unanimous consent the house voted Monday to recommit the Doyal income tax bill. This bill was given a favorable report last week in the house by the committee but Representative Davis, of DeKalb, stated that 14 members of the committee were absent when the favorable report was voted because of a misunderstanding as to the place where the committee meeting was to be held. A similar bill in the senate was given an adverse report by the constitutional amendments committee of that body and it is expected that a bitter fight over the kind of report to be returned by the constitutional amendments committee of the house will be waged when the committee again considered the bill.

The appropriations committee of the house began work Monday considering various items to be included in this year's general appropriations bill. State institutions and departments have asked for appropriations for maintenance, which total $4,032,000, it was announced. The general appropriations bill carries items totaling $22,000,000 for the next two-year period.

The house fight over the marriage license bill centered around claims of proponents that Georgians are being driven out of the state to be married, by operation of the five-day notice clause, and the assertion of opponents that bigamous marriages are in many cases prevented by the necessity of advertising the intention to wed. Representatives Wright, of Floyd county, and J. C. Edwards, of Clarksville, led opposition to the measure, while Representatives Davis, of DeKalb, and Kempton, of Fulton, only women members of the house, pushed for its adoption.

Notice of a demand for reconsideration was filed by Miss Kempton. Representatives Wright and Culpepper pleaded for "safeguards" around the innocent girls of Georgia. Representative Davis went into the purely utilitarian aspect with the declaration that by the operation of another statute which prohibits Georgians from going to other states to evade Georgia marriage laws the whole status of marriages contracted outside the state to avoid the notice period is thrown open to question, with possible complications in the settlement of estates. Miss Kempton argued on the ground that no other contract is so welded about and that the full application of the law is impossible.

Long Terms for Floggers.
Floggings by masked night-riding bands would be punishable by prison or chaining terms of from 10 to 20 years under provisions of a bill introduced Monday in the senate by Senator J. C. Edwards, of Clarksville. Long prison terms of from 5 to 10 years would be imposed on persons found guilty of threatening individuals while masked.

Senator Edwards' home, Clarksville, is near the scene of the recent Toccoa floggings, which resulted in the conviction of W. G. Acree, school principal, on charges of assault and battery in connection with the flogging of Mrs. Ansel Bowers. Under the charge of assault with intent to murder, on which Acree was convicted, carries only a misdemeanor sentence.

A section of the bill makes it unlawful for a person to appear on public grounds or buildings, or on private property with a mask without consent, except in lodge rooms, or at public carnivals, fairs, festivals or other public gathering places.

Rivers Denounces Hardman.
Denouncing Governor Hardman for "calling into question the right of senators to petition him and the right to have entries to the executive department," Senator E. D. Rivers, of Lake land, Monday delivered a heated address, which referred to the governor's recent statement to the press in answer to the petition for the retention of John N.

My answer says: reads: No. 1. South (Dealer) should bid one Diamond.

No. 2. South one No Trump; West should pass.
No. 3. South one Heart; West pass; North should bid one No Trump.
No. 4. South one Spade; West pass; North pass; East should pass.
My reasons in support of these declarations are:

No. 1. The hand has the two requisites for a No Trump, viz: three suits safely stopped and strength above the average; but its worthless singleton makes it a dangerous adverse Heart declaration. Let well enough alone.

game against South's No Trump, and a bid of two Diamonds might drive the adversaries into a Heart contract. The hand has the strength requisite for a double; but the answer to be expected from East would be two Hearts. West with his worthless Heart singleton would then have to bid two No Trumps and, unless East's Hearts were strong (which is improbable), disaster would be apt to ensue.

No. 3. Clearly a No Trump declaration; every suit, except partner's thoroughly stopped.

No. 4. Little chance for game, facing a passing partner. A bid may produce a dangerous adverse Heart declaration. Let well enough alone.

Holder as chairman of the state highway board.

Senator Rivers made his address under what he termed a point of privilege, stating that "I do not rise to a point of personal criticism, but to the right which is guaranteed the people of Georgia under their constitution."

The governor says in so many words that we are "not of peasant politicians." Senator Rivers said: "His excellency and some people of Georgia would have us believe that we are flying in the face of an honest recommendation by the chairman of the state highway board. That is not true. The question simply is whether or not we have a right to petition his excellency."

"We have thrown open the door to the executive department and the chief executive and have accorded his recommendations an audience. We demand an open door to the executive department whereby we, as humble citizens, may petition the governor in the manner we see fit."

Wants to Cooperate, He Says.
Senator Rivers said he was anxious to cooperate and has already manifested it personally, but that there is a vast difference between a free cooperation and intimidation, and that senators who did not sign the petition should be just as interested in protecting the right to petition his excellency as those who signed it.

The plain inference of the governor's reply is that the senators stepped beyond the bounds of legislative authority." Senator Rivers said, adding that the right of petition has been guaranteed the people for more than seven centuries, ever since the signing of the Magna Charta.

A bill providing for an increase in the salary of the state veterinarian from $2,500 a year to $5,000 was approved Monday afternoon by the general judiciary committee No. 1 of the senate.

General judiciary committee No. 2 of the senate approved three bills Monday. One is a measure to clarify the laws relating to liens in favor of contractors, architects, engineers, workmen and others furnishing material for buildings.

Another is a bill providing for admission to the bar, which would require a high school education for admission. The third bill authorized settlement with minors in personal injury cases.

The appropriations committee of the house after approving a number of items relating to the executive department, adjourned Monday afternoon until 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

The committee killed an item which provided $25,000 for riot duty by the national guard, as that expense is already covered in a $75,000 fund now in the treasury. The committee postponed action on the department of revenue's appropriation of $48,000 a year, as it was brought to the committee's attention that the department spent $806,000 last year and will need more than the amount set out in the bill.

The committee raised the appropriation for Gracewood school for mental defectives from $30,000 to $50,000 for 1928.

The senate Monday passed unanimously the measure reaffirming the Atlanta zoning law, which was vetoed by Governor Hardman last year by the state supreme court. The bill was introduced by Senator Hendrix, of the 35th district, and now goes to the house. It is subject to the ratification of a constitutional amendment which is to be presented next year to the voters.

A resolution to appoint a committee of five for an investigation of cooperative marketing was passed with out opposition by the senate. The paper was introduced by Senator Williams.

Senator Edwards, of the 31st district, introduced a bill repealing the law giving juries the right to pass indeterminate sentences, which was enacted on August 18, 1910.

Work of the state welfare department during the past two years is discussed in the biennial report made to Governor Hardman Monday. The department of two bills seeking to take effect at 8 o'clock Wednesday night at the Asbury hotel on several bills, among which are measures relating to personal property loans, repeal of the garnishment law and a new law making mechanics' liens superior to anything except taxes.

The other public hearing will be held on Tuesday on a bill to abolish the state board of public welfare.

Representatives Rutland, of Lee county, and Walker, of Ben Hill, department of two bills seeking to take effect at 8 o'clock Wednesday night at the Asbury hotel on several bills, among which are measures relating to personal property loans, repeal of the garnishment law and a new law making mechanics' liens superior to anything except taxes.

The Rutland bill would have established the county clerk as the tax distributor, while the Walker measure proposes that the primary be made the agent of the secretary of state for that purpose. Representative Rutland said he would withdraw his bill today and append his name to the Walker bill.

Both legislators asserted that the state would benefit at least $8,000 a year by the change. The ordinary would receive 25 cents fee from each license.

Social Spotlight Is Focused Upon Tea at Governor's Mansion

The social spotlight today is focused upon the executive mansion in Ansley Park, where within its hospitable doors Mrs. L. G. Hardman, wife of Georgia's executive, and her charming daughters will receive callers from Atlanta's exclusive social set during the hours from 4 to 6 o'clock. Tuesday has been designated as Mrs. Hardman's day at home and this delightful custom is proving an inspiration both to the hostess and the callers who are served tea at the gray stone mansion on Tuesdays.

Atlanta always seems to have its quota of visitors, for as soon as one group leaves, another comes to take its place. Though all affairs assume an informal air through the summer months, they are none the less enjoyable and society will bask in the presence today of a bevy of interesting figures from other cities around whom parties are planned, including Miss Virginia Baldwin, of Lynchburg, Va.; Mrs. E. B. Hardy and Miss Stella Pickett Hardy, of Washington, D. C.; Miss Louisa White, of Spartanburg, S. C., and Miss Cornelia Stribling, of Charlotte, N. C. The dinner-dances at the city's clubs and hotels offer diversion for those who prefer to dine away from home and in intimate contact with their friends who are sure to be present also.

For Men Who Get Up Cross In the Morning

Lots of men are like that. Won't speak a pleasant word—if indeed they'll speak to you at all—until they've had their breakfast. No matter what you say to them, it's the wrong thing.

The way to treat men like that is not with conversation. They are the men who, like most Americans, live on their nerves. They work too hard. They don't get enough sleep. And when they have to get up in the morning they are not completely rested. So they're cross.

What they need is a good hot drink that will refresh them—that will taste delicious and satisfying without setting their nerves on edge—that will give them a comfortable sense of well-being—that will put them in harmony with themselves, with you, and with the rest of the world—and that will make them fit for the strenuous day before them.

Any one of the three perfect RIDGWAYS blends can do this. Try it! Compare its effects with those of any other drink. You'll notice the difference in one day. You'll be calmer, happier, and easier to live with. And you'll love the delicious, full-bodied flavor.

Miss Emma Gregg will entertain the Kappa Theta club with a bridge tea at her home, 430 Capitol avenue, S. E., Friday afternoon, July 22, at 3:15 o'clock.

Mrs. Crenshaw Speaks Before West End Club.

Mrs. E. P. Crenshaw will address the garden committee of the Civic club of West End, Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the clubhouse. Her subject will be: "Things I Have Learned in the Garden." Anyone interested will be welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Ramsey Entertain at Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Ramsey entertained at a dinner party at their home Monday evening complimenting Captain and Mrs. Glenn A. Ross, of Fort McPherson, who leave Wednesday to make their home in Philadelphia. Invited to meet the honor guest were Captain and Mrs. Malcolm N. Fortier, Mr. and Mrs. William Arnold, Mrs. William Cunningham, of Fort Oglethorpe; Mrs. Carroll Weisiger, of Louisville, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Flemister, Dr. and Mrs. J. A. McGarvey, J. L. Wright, Jr., Ernest Cunningham and Sam Ridgway.

Miss Marian Gertman Honors Visitors.

Miss Marian Gertman was hostess at a bridge-luncheon Saturday at her home on Emory drive, honoring a group of charming visitors, including Miss Charlotte Guy, of Charlotte, N. C., who is spending the summer with her uncle, Dr. Sam Guy, on North Decatur road; Miss Hazel Timmerman, of Plains, Ga.; Miss Lee, of Covington, who is the guest of Miss Marguerite Hulsey in Druid Hills, and Miss Lowe, of Buena Vista.

Miss Yolande Gwinn Is Feted Visitor In Chattanooga, Tenn.

The Lookout, of Chattanooga, Tenn., carries the following interesting paragraphs concerning the visit of Miss Yolande Gwinn, popular Atlanta belle:

"Miss Yolande Lyndhurst Gwinn, of Atlanta, Ga., came Friday to visit friends in Chattanooga. She is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Pullen Jackson at their home in Fairy land and is being entertained also by Miss Martha Barnett.

"Miss Gwinn was a debutante of 1926, one of the most popular members of the younger set in Atlanta. This season she is acting as publicity manager and social director for the Atlanta Baltimore hotel.

"Miss Gwinn was honored at an informal dinner party Friday evening preceding the R. O. T. C. dance at Fort Oglethorpe. She will be honored at a supper party on Saturday evening after the dance at Fairyland, and on Sunday evening at a supper party to be given at the Hitehina Post tea house when Miss Barnett will be hostess.

Jewish Woman's Club Sponsors Baseball Game.

The Jewish Woman's club, composed of several hundred members, will sponsor a benefit baseball game Saturday, July 30, at 3 o'clock, at Spiller park, between the Coca-Cola and Exposition Mills teams.

Members will sell tickets at 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children under 14 years, and tickets will also be on sale at the grounds the day of the ball game.

Mrs. Sam Rosenberg is president of the Jewish Woman's club, and Mrs. Victor Krieshaber is honorary life president. The game will be played to help raise funds to pay off a small mortgage on the clubhouse. The Jewish Woman's club will celebrate its tenth anniversary in the fall and every effort is being made to have the club free from indebtedness.

The Coca-Cola and Exposition Mills teams are donating their services for this cause.

Miss Juanita Greer Is Luncheon Hostess.

Miss Juanita Greer was hostess Monday afternoon at an enjoyable luncheon at the Henry Grady hotel, complimenting Miss Helen Bates, a bride-elect of August 10.

Covers were placed for Misses Helen Bates, Frances Law, Vera Kasper, Catherine Abbott, Elizabeth Myers, Juanita Greer.

When the pores are sluggish and the skin dry and parched, the face becomes worn and haggard. To remove the discolored skin and cleanse the pores, use pure mercurized wax.

Obtain an ounce at any drug store or beauty counter, and use as directed. The wax absorbs the aged, blotchy, soiled skin, leaving it soft and clear. It also removes freckles, tan, blackheads and all have disappeared. The underneath skin blossoms into clear, fresh and velvet and the face looks more girlish. Mercurized wax brings out the hidden beauty.—(adv.)

Magic Creme Draws Out Freckles, Blackheads and Blemishes
A WONDERFUL new harmless formula—a safe, easy treatment gently draws out blemishes, clearing and whitening the skin with amazing quickness. Already a million women all over America are keeping their skins fresh and lovely with this amazing new creme!

Now there is no excuse for unsightly freckles on face, arms, or shoulders, or dusky tan. Even blackheads, pimples, sallowness, roughness and muddiness vanish as if by magic. Soon your complexion will take on a smoothness and a clearness that will astound you. Your neck will have that fresh, lovely whiteness so necessary with bobbed hair. Your hands and arms will grow smooth and flawless. In no time at all you will have the charm of a crystal clear skin—soft, velvety, and milk white!

Tonight at bedtime smooth this cool, delicate creme on your face. Tomorrow morning take your hand glass to the window—be critical—and you will be delighted with the transformation. In this short time this magic creme has already begun to draw out the imperfections!

So wonderful, so quick are the results of this new scientific creme that we absolutely guarantee it. Get a jar now—today—at all drug and department stores. Use it five nights. Then if you are not delighted and amazed your money will be gladly refunded.

Filmy, Thin Frocks
By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

INSTEAD of risking old-time "sanitary pads," 8 in 10 better-class women employ a NEW way called "Kotex." Filled with Cellucotton wadding, the world's super-absorbent, it is 5 times more absorbent. Kotex also deodorizes. It discards easily as tissue—no laundry. Thus, in three important ways, it solves a serious summer problem for women.

More than a mere sanitary pad, Kotex offers safe and certain scientific protection.

a vinegar that is ALL FLAVOR

Only a tablespoon of vinegar in your sauce perhaps, but how important that tablespoonful. Let it be all flavor and not mere sourness.

The good flavor of the Heinz Vinegar you use comes from months and months of aging in wood—a slow, patient, mellowing process that brings out the bouquet and perfects the flavor and aroma.

When you use Heinz Pure Vinegar you are getting all flavor. Every drop of it is an added delight to any sauce or dressing.

SYNOPSIS.

A head of crooks, stumbling on the fact that Sir Adrian Shale's wife is alive, when she supposedly died six months before in Italy, arrives at Grantwick, Sir Adrian's home, for the purpose of blackmailing him. Miss Winchell, one of the crooks posing as a widow, obtains a letter of introduction to Sir Adrian, who is kind to her and her "daughter," Doris. The girl is beautiful and possesses the only shred of respectability the gang can lay its hands on. She is really an orphan, whom Miss Winchell befriended. One of the crooks, Beauty Bill Gibbons, asks Doris to marry him. She refuses. A few days later Sir Adrian, angered by the fact that she would like to marry Doris, tells her that she knows his wife is alive, and demands fifty thousand pounds for silence. Sir Adrian does not believe her, but agrees to pay the money. She returns to London immediately, and discovers that Sir Adrian has tricked her. She is now in a predicament. Her former maid, Anna Ferguson, failed to come back to England after Lady Shale's death in Italy. In attempting to find her, Sir Adrian calls on her sister, Madam George, a fashionable London dressmaker, who is unable to give him any information. Doris rebels at the life she is forced to lead with Miss Winchell and Uncle Charles, and takes a job as a maid at Madam George's. She meets Sir Adrian, but leaves him in anger because of his lack of faith in her. Madam George is especially kind to Doris.

PEACE.

Fanny and Stella noticed the change in Doris' manner at breakfast time, the absence in the blue eyes of that look of brooding despair. Doris even laughed naturally once or twice, for life was so good.

It was one of those glorious autumn days, still, sunny, and warm. Stella was going up the river with a new boat. She was bubbling over with excitement. He had a motor boat, and she was sure he had fallen for her. Why didn't Doris find a boy to give her a good time?

Doris only smiled and answered, "Perhaps I shall some day."

"Winchell's only half alive!" Fanny said in her sour voice as she left the house with Stella. Fanny was going to spend the day at Croydon with some relatives.

"Still, she's pretty if she's only try," Stella simpered.

"Pretty?" Fanny snorted. "Half-witted, I think."

Left alone, Doris was drawn by the beauty of the day to go for a bus ride. She had such a lot to think about, and it would be jolly on-top of a bus in this sunshine. Tomorrow—she wondered what her first job would be. And would madam be very strict?

She walked down Dover street and mounted an almost empty motor bus going eastward. Where she went she did not care. The motorcar was a motor boat, and one lived only for that. Madam had praised her taste—said she could help her.

The bus sped through half-deserted streets, on through totally deserted streets to pull up eventually at Liverpool Street station.

There was something about the lonely city on this bright Sunday morning which turned in with her mood. She liked the feeling of solitude it gave her with hardly another pedestrian in sight, and only an occasional policeman idling on his beat, or a cat running itself in the middle of a deserted road to remind her that she was not absolutely alone in possession of the normally busy district. She wandered on heedlessly through queer little alleys and lanes.

And then from near at hand a peal of bells suddenly broke the sunny silence. Doris followed their direction, and in a few moments came to a little gray church in the heart of the district, huddled, as it seemed, between two vast office buildings. It looked out of place, but restful.

And to Doris, in the past, church had meant nothing but unwelcome duty. In her childhood she had, of course, been forced to attend the bare chapel at the asylum; at the curate's house, again she had been forced to attend on Sunday evenings—and been blamed and beaten because of work performed left undone while at service. But the gang thought little of churches—they were considered unlucky.

The door stood open, and hardly realizing what she was doing, Doris entered. She sat down in a seat just inside, and immediately felt the peace of the ancient building—the soft light, the quiet and the hush of the old stone arches that soared above her. St. Oystin's was one of the oldest of city churches, one of the few which had escaped the fire of London, and this was Doris' first meeting with a medieval House of God and its inextinguishable charm.

A bare handful of people made up the congregation; it was, in fact, outnumbered by the choir. But Doris paid little conscious heed to what went on about her. The singing sounded her, the drone of the organ, the old person pulled her into a sort of happy semi-consciousness. She rose and knelt mechanically. It was a wonderful place in which to think. She would note its name, she decided, and come here again.

She wandered out towards the sunshine, lost in reverie, in the porch a cheerful elderly woman smiled at her. She was dressed in a sort of nurse's garb with close-fitting black bonnet. "Good morning," she said in a friendly way. "We don't often have strangers here."

Doris was embarrassed. She explained nervously that she had only come to the church by chance.

"I ask because I am in charge of a girls' hostel in the parish," she said. "We have quite a number of girls living here, you know—mostly from the big wholesale dressmaking firms. I thought perhaps you might be a new-comer."

Doris smiled. There was no mistaking the kindly sympathy of the speaker. "No; it's true that I am in the dressmaking," she explained, "but not here. In the West End."

"How interesting."

They talked on for a little while of the old church, the beauty of the day, of the silence of the city on Sunday. Then her companion turned to go.

"I hope you will come again," she said. "If you do, you must come and see the hostel; it's a pleasant place and you'd never imagine what good times we have here in gloomy old London when work is over. We have a rose garden," she rattled on.

"Will," said Doris, "I should love to see it. Perhaps some Sunday, soon."

"Do. Look—"

The friendly woman pulled a card from her bag. "I am Miss Dawes, the matron, and this is the address."

The old person came walking from the church at that moment and paused long enough to pass a word to them. It seemed that all the world was against her; now it seemed to smile on her, to welcome her. Fanny, gray, old St. Oystin's, pleasant, friendly.

She found a tea-shop open, and had a simple meal; then her steps led her on to the grim old tower, and there on the tower wharf she idled the afternoon away watching the ships drop down with the tide and murky Thames laughing in the autumn sunshine, and it was all good.

And so was the rest of that week—so good, so wonderfully good that Doris could hardly believe she was the same girl who had paced despondently round Berkeley square in the dark of the previous Saturday.

Georgette was amazingly kind to her. It was a new and unfamiliar madam with whom she worked in the office; a madam who would laugh sometimes and who sometimes called her Doris.

And Georgette was pleased enough with the experiment. Doris had a keen intelligence, fitted for a different sort of occupation than that of a manikin. In a dozen ways she proved herself helpful, and more than once a natural tact had saved madam from a rather stupid Miss Andrews, the secretary.

Doris' eye for color was a revelation to Georgette; her sense of design, too. "The little Winchell" was a born dressmaker. And she was so quick and self-reliant. To find some occupation for her, Georgette had sent her out on the second morning to see Barnard's about upholstering the new car that she and her husband were buying.

Doris had come back in a couple of hours with the whole position at her fingers' ends—costs, designs, and suggestions.

"You've saved me two days' work," Doris' Georgette had said approvingly, and Doris had felt a surge of grateful pride in her heart.

But the week was drawing to its close, and Matthew Given was due back on Friday evening. Doris saw the end of her journey in paradise all the way at hand. Georgette noted the look of sadness coming back into the big blue eyes and she guessed the reason.

"I shall have to ask you to stay on here a little, Miss Winchell," she said, smiling on the Friday afternoon, and the sudden flash of gladness that chased away the sorrow on Doris' face brought a rush of emotion to Georgette's throat.

By Leased Wire to The Constitution.

Chicago, July 18.—(P)—Advances in the cotton market last week were followed by reactions today, owing to weakness in Liverpool, reports of rather more favorable weather than expected over the week-end and talk of an easier technical position. October contracts broke to 18.00, a net decline of 41 points and a drop of about 45 points from the high level of Saturday. Delivery closed at 18.20, the general market closing steady at net declines of 24 to 34 points.

Very heavy selling developed in early trading. After opening easy at a decline of 25 to 20 points, the market sold off to net declines of 43 to 40 points before midday under liquidation and local or southern selling. A sharp break in the market for Egyptian cotton futures in Alexandria, together with the decline in Liverpool and a rather better weather map than looked for by sellers of late last week, appeared to be the chief factors so far as the news was concerned. There also was a feeling that the market had been overbought on the advances of the previous week and that the technical position had weakened.

Trade interests were large buyers on scale-down orders during the progress of the decline, which suggested that contracts liquidated by speculative longs were going into firm hands, and there was also covering which absorbed offerings on the break of about $2 per bale from the closing prices of last week.

The market was steadier during the afternoon. The volume of business which had been active while the early selling movement was in progress tapered off on the rallies and these were not fully sustained, but prices showed recoveries of about 10 to 15 points from the lowest.

A private report made the condition of the crop 75 as of July against 75.5 as of June 25, and 74.6 as of July 13 last year, but the figures appeared to be without any particular effect on the day's market. The comparatively high condition was accompanied by comment on the heavy infestation of boll weevil.

Port receipts today, 4,816. U. S. port stocks 1,072,732. Exports 2,011, making 1,033,698 so far this season.

LOSSES OF 26 POINTS SUFFERED AT NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, July 18.—(P)—Intermittent rains on bullwhacker and weevil reports today failed to retrieve the early losses brought by unfavorable cables and the cotton market closed with net losses for the day of 26 to 29 points.

General liquidation and weakness of the Egyptian market sent the Liverpool market tobogganing to cause first trade losses of 25 to 28 points from the New Orleans market.

After a slight momentary rally, the market turned easy again and below the decline was checked October sold for 17.94 and December 18.18 and January 18.36 to 38 points under Saturday's close.

A forecast for showers and weather brought a rally of 10 to 12 points in midsession, but the market turned easy again. The downward movement again was checked by news of a bullwhacker weevil report and prices moved 18 to 20 points above the lows for 18.12 for October, 18.36 for December and 18.43 for January. Realization in the last minutes of trading absorbed virtually all of the gain. Exports were 2,011 bales.

of the previous week and that the technical position had weakened.

Trade interests were large buyers on scale-down orders during the progress of the decline, which suggested that contracts liquidated by speculative longs were going into firm hands, and there was also covering which absorbed offerings on the break of about $2 per bale from the closing prices of last week.

The market was steadier during the afternoon. The volume of business which had been active while the early selling movement was in progress tapered off on the rallies and these were not fully sustained, but prices showed recoveries of about 10 to 15 points from the lowest.

A private report made the condition of the crop 75 as of July against 75.5 as of June 25, and 74.6 as of July 13 last year, but the figures appeared to be without any particular effect on the day's market. The comparatively high condition was accompanied by comment on the heavy infestation of boll weevil.

Port receipts today, 4,816. U. S. port stocks 1,072,732. Exports 2,011, making 1,033,698 so far this season.

LOSSES OF 26 POINTS SUFFERED AT NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, July 18.—(P)—Intermittent rains on bullwhacker and weevil reports today failed to retrieve the early losses brought by unfavorable cables and the cotton market closed with net losses for the day of 26 to 29 points.

General liquidation and weakness of the Egyptian market sent the Liverpool market tobogganing to cause first trade losses of 25 to 28 points from the New Orleans market.

After a slight momentary rally, the market turned easy again and below the decline was checked October sold for 17.94 and December 18.18 and January 18.36 to 38 points under Saturday's close.

A forecast for showers and weather brought a rally of 10 to 12 points in midsession, but the market turned easy again. The downward movement again was checked by news of a bullwhacker weevil report and prices moved 18 to 20 points above the lows for 18.12 for October, 18.36 for December and 18.43 for January. Realization in the last minutes of trading absorbed virtually all of the gain. Exports were 2,011 bales.
